Kennedy Swings Into New York

Schedules Dozen Appearances Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today the assumption of an inevitable conflict between the Democratic party and businessmen "is one of the great political myths of our time."

"The business community has well served the Democratic party — and I believe the Democratic party has well served the business community," said the Democratic presidential nominee in a speech prepared for the Association of Business Publications.

Kennedy said his party has benefited business by such things as creating the federal reserve system as the basis of the nation's currency and banking system, by controlling securities speculation, and by raising purchasing power of farmers and workers.

He assured the association that, while as president he would not conduct a businessmen's administration, "neither will it be a labor administration or a farmers' administration."

"It will be an administration representing, and seeking to serve, all Americans," he said.

The Massachusetts senator scheduled a busy program in the metropolitan area today, with a dozen appearances at a wide range of events.

This was Kennedy's third swing into New York with its big prize of 45 electoral votes. His tentative schedule calls for three more visits.

A pattern of heavy concentration on the big industrial states of the Northeast is clearly emerging in the senator's campaign.

He already has been in Ohio four times and will go back there twice more. Other states to get much attention are Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois.

School Board to Seek New Loan

For the seventh time this year the Board of Education will have to borrow money to meet current obligations and bond retirement.

The board authorized the clerk to borrow $270,000 when it met Monday night, but School Board President Orein Naragon said today the full amount may not be needed if the county auditor is able to make an advance on the personal property tax collection.

The board must meet bond and interest payments Nov. 1, in addition to paying salaries of teachers and other employees.

School Supt. Paul Smith said the board has almost reached the limit of the amount of money it can borrow from both local banks.

Most of the difficulty stems from the fact that the board started the year without any reserve fund and obligations have come at times ahead of the regularly-scheduled tax distributions, he explained.

Congo, U.N. Argue Fate Of Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Opposing troops with machineguns faced each other around the home of Patrice Lumumba today as the Congo's ruling government commission threatened an army uprising unless U.N. forces hand over the deposed premier.

Machinegunners of Ghana's U.N. contingent mounted a protective guard around the controversial ex-premier and prevented the execution of the arrest warrant for Lumumba signed by President Joseph Kasavubu.

Congo army troops formed an outer cordon around Lumumba's residence, keeping him a prisoner inside while the government commission and the U.N. Command wrangled over his fate.

Justin Bomboko, head of the commission appointed by army chief Col. Joseph Mobutu, renewed demands upon the U. N. Command Tuesday night for permission to serve an arrest warrant and said Congolese troops intend to take Lumumba into custody.

Any U.N. interference, he said would set off an army uprising throughout the Congo, and this "could start a war in the Congo and a world war."

But he did not set a deadline for Lumumba's surrender. He said he was waiting for further word from U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The U.N. Command declined to deliver Lumumba on the grounds that under the Congo's temporary constitution, Parliament must approve the arrest of one of its members.

Truman Blasts Attacks on Religious Issue

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman Tuesday night delivered what the Democrats say they hope will be the knockout punch against attacks on presidential candidate John F. Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion.

In an unusually serious mood, Truman told a crowd that gave approval 24 times with applause that "innuendoes and downright lies" are being used to arouse religious prejudice. "I say to you this is un-American. It makes me sick and it makes me want to fight and that is what I am doing," Truman said.

Truman, on stage with House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, both Texas Democrats, devoted more than half his 30-minute speech to the question of religion.

Many Baptist ministers and other clergymen have openly questioned Kennedy's qualification to serve as president in view of his Catholic religion.

"I think that Jack Kennedy has responded very well to the attacks on his religion," Truman said. "He has answered all reasonable questions with patience, with dignity and candor."

Asking the audience, estimated by local Kennedy-Johnson leaders at 5,000, to "listen carefully," he read the part of Article VI of the Constitution which declares that no religious test shall be required as a qualification to any office of public trust.

Nixon Stresses Policy on Islands

Rips Foe's Views On Quemoy, Matsu

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is back in his home territory today, confident he now has an issue that will help push him into the White House.

Nixon will spend 3 1/2 days in his native California, and it's almost certain that in each speech he will insist he is right — and Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic foe, is wrong — about policy for Quemoy and Matsu.

Thursday comes the third round of the big television debate between Nixon and Kennedy.

Nixon has gone halfway around the world to latch onto his issue, two tiny islands, off the coast of China. He is sure to hammer away at this two-point theme:

1. That Quemoy and Matsu should be defended.

2. That Kennedy is wrong — engaging in "naive and woolly" thinking that could lead to war — when he says the defense line should be pulled back to the sea between Formosa and the China mainland.

Possibly the best clue to Nixon's thinking came in his reply to Kennedy's suggestion for a fifth television debate.

Why not set back the debate on foreign policy, now booked for Oct. 21, a few days and expand it two hours?

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said Tuesday night the campaign seems to be settling down to international issues, and two hours would provide plenty of time to explore them. Klein smiled when he said it.

Another Nixon proposal: That the two vice presidential candidates, Henry Cabot Lodge and

Kiwanians Elect In East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Lloyd F. Lange of 671 Alice St., a cashier at the First National Bank here, was elected president of the Kiwanis Club at a meeting Tuesday night.

Lange succeeds James Fruit. Other officers elected last night were Russell Patton, first vice-president; and Eugene Lackner, second vice-president. Charles W. Kelley was re-elected treasurer.

The new officers will take over at the club's first meeting in January.

Also held at last night's meeting was a panel discussion on the $650,000 school bond issue calling for a new elementary building, an eight-room addition to the senior high school and cafeterias for all four school buildings in the city.

Spokesmen included school officials and architect Myron Goodwin of Youngstown who displayed sketches of what the buildings would look like after completion.

The school bond issue, which will be on the November ballot, takes a majority vote to pass. The issue calls for approximately three and a half mills for 22 years.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

No injuries were recorded Tuesday morning in a two-car scrape at N. Lincoln Ave. and E. 3rd St. According to police, autos driven by Paul Christopher, 51, of Salem, and Walter Creissinger, 27, of Forchheim, West Germany, collided at the intersection. The mishap occurred at 9:48.

Student Slays Socialist Party Chief In Japan

Victim Was Avowed Friend of Red China, Opposed U.S. Pact

TOKYO (AP)—A fanatic right-wing student today assassinated the Socialist party chairman, Inejiro Asanuma, an avowed friend of Communist China and the militant leader of Japanese opposition to the U. S.-Japan alliance.

The assassin, a slender Otaya Yamaguchi, 17, stabbed Asanuma twice with a foot-long sword as Asanuma spoke to a political forum on clean campaign practices. Members of the audience hurled the youth to the floor and carried him off to police headquarters.

A leftist throng of 10,000 marched on police headquarters and then on the official residence of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, demanding Ikeda's resignation. They shouted "Down with terrorism."

A few of the marchers broke windows in an ineffectual attempt to break into police headquarters but otherwise there was no violence. The demonstrators began to disperse after a Cabinet official received leaders of the leftist labor federation Sohyo and told them the government would proceed with firmness.

Police reported that the young killer confessed he had plotted the assassination for the past three days and said he had no accomplices. Police said he told them Asanuma was a traitor who was trying to sell Japan to the Communists.

Asanuma was hurried to a hospital where he died of two chest wounds, one of them close to the heart.

The assassin was a former member of the ultranationalist Greater Japan Patriotic Society. Members of the extremist Zengakuren Student Association and of the big left-wing labor federation Sohyo—Asanuma's comrades-in-arms in demonstrations against the new U. S.-Japan security treaty last spring—led the march on the station.

They carried placards proclaiming "Down with the Ikeda Cabinet which killed Asanuma" and "Don't permit terrorism."

It was the first major political murder in 24 years in a country where "government by assassination" was prevalent before World War II. But it was the third political stabbing by a rightist fanatic in four months—the other victims recovered—and it raised fears that ultranationalist terrorism once again is becoming a major factor in political life.

Asanuma, 61, was in the midst of a speech when Yamaguchi rushed from the left side of the stage and struck twice with his sword. Asanuma staggered two or three steps, held his chest, mumbled some words and collapsed on the blood-spattered stage.

Gain Noted In Chest Campaign

New Contributions Make Total $21,434

Salem's United Appeal campaign picked up a little speed today with $1,573 in contributions and pledges reported to add to the $19,861 on hand Monday.

The new amount is the result of yesterday's canvassing by teams which have been urged by General Chairman E. Ralph Martin to complete their assigned tasks as soon as possible.

The total amount now in fund is $21,434 — still a long way from the $48,960 goal.

Mr. Martin announced that the Employees of Banks and Loan Companies is the first to reach 50 per cent of their fund drive quota, with $605 of their $1,200 quota obtained.

All teams are requested to make reports at a special breakfast meeting Thursday at 8 a.m. at the Red Cross Chapter headquarters on E. Second St.

Flier Seeking Mark Crashes Into Pacific

HONOLULU (AP)—Two North Dakota Air National Guardsmen, attempting a nonstop distance record in single-engine planes, were approaching Wake Island Tuesday night when one of the pilots radioed that he was unable to climb. A few minutes later Lt. Duane Stirling, 27, of Fargo, went into the ocean about three miles north of Wake.

His buddy, Capt. Charles Finnegan, 30, also of Fargo, landed at Wake.

The Coast Guard found Stirling bobbing in the Pacific. A Navy crash boat picked him up but there were no immediate reports on his condition.

The pilots were trying to fly nonstop from Oakland, Calif., to Manila.

Both planes were in view of the island when Stirling's plane went down. Finnegan circled once and headed into the Wake landing field.

Finnegan and Stirling left Oakland Monday morning on their projected 7,698-mile flight. They were after the record set last year when Max Conrad flew 7,685 miles nonstop from Casablanca, Morocco, to Los Angeles.

Project officials announced that the first in the series of Samos satellites radioed back a few messages of its performance Tuesday, then disappeared.

It was to be the forerunner of satellites equipped with scanning gear so sensitive they are expected to take pictures or TV shots better than photos made from the U2 reconnaissance plane.

May Have Embarrassed U.S.

Kennedy's Salem Talk Criticized by Lawrence

By DAVID LAWRENCE (New York Herald Tribune)

Unless Sen. Kennedy repudiates the speech he made at Salem, Ohio, over the weekend, he may, if elected president of the United States, find that he has embarrassed his own government.

For Mr. Kennedy took the position that, when a country "abstains" from voting on an issue

Conspiracy Trial Rolls On In Cuba

SANTA CLARA, Cuba (AP)—The biggest conspiracy trial of the Fidel Castro regime rolled on here today behind doors closed to all foreign newsmen except four Russians.

Newsmen counted 170 defendants, about a dozen of them in military uniform, who entered the courtroom at the trial opening Tuesday. Defense attorneys said more than 200 were on trial.

The accused are charged with waging armed rebellion in the Escambray Mountains or with collaborating with the insurgents.

Among those on trial was an American identified by the semi-official newspaper Revolution as Richard Pecoraro of Staten Island, N. Y.

A New York City fireman by that name was fired from his job earlier this year after overstaying his leave on a trip to Cuba.

A second military tribunal at Santiago in eastern Cuba, was to begin hearing evidence today against 21 men the government says invaded the northeast coast of Cuba last week. They included another American identified as Anthony Zarba.

The Armed Forces Ministry announced Tuesday night that only five of the 27-man landing party was still at large. The leader previously had been reported killed.

THE RECORD

Since 1952 shows that the United States has mustered between 42 and 47 votes each year against debate on a resolution to admit Red China to the U.N.

This year the vote in support was 42, which is exactly what it was in 1952 at the height of the Korean War, when Red China was fighting the United Nations armies.

Can it be said that the position of the United States, therefore, on this particular motion has really weakened, as Sen. Kennedy claims?

The fact of the matter is that a two-thirds majority would be needed to seat Red China in the General Assembly—or at least 66 votes out of the present U.N. membership of 98.

This means that, for Red China to become a member of the assembly, 32 votes would be needed in addition to the 34 votes this year in favor of debating the question.

So all of the 22 abstentions plus at least 10 of those countries now standing with the United States would have to be obtained by the Red China supporters.

This is so improbable that it gives a clue as to why 22 members abstained from voting last Friday on the United States resolution not to take up the question of admitting Red China.

THEY KNEW he resolution would win anyway and they could

Disarmament Vote Heavily Against Him

Russian Scheduled To Return Home by Plane Thursday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, set back by a steamroller vote in the United Nations on disarmament, risked another defeat today on his cherished charge of "American aggressive actions."

The Soviet chief appeared to be gripped by an almost apoplectic fury when the disarmament vote went heavily against him. He openly talked of rocks and war.

Time is running out for him — unless he changes his mind about flying back to Moscow Thursday night.

Beaten Down Repeatedly

He has been beaten down repeatedly in the General Assembly, the latest setback coming Tuesday night in spite of a raging, threatening speech demanding that disarmament be debated at once by the Assembly without preliminary committee consideration.

The 99-nation assembly voted 54-13 with 31 abstentions against Khrushchev's demand. Then it voted 61-12 with 24 abstentions to debate the issue in the Political Committee. Voting with the Soviet bloc on the first question were Afghanistan, Mali and fellow-traveling Guinea and Cuba. Afghanistan abstained on the second vote.

Today the Assembly discussed Soviet demands to bypass committee consideration of two more Soviet resolutions. The U.N. Steering Committee has recommended that both be debated by the Political Committee before they come to the assembly.

One resolution charges the United States with aggressive actions against the Soviet Union, menacing world peace. It is based on the American U2 plane shot down over Soviet territory and the RB47 shot down off the north coast of the Soviet Union.

The other calls for a declaration by the assembly that all "colonial countries and peoples" should be granted independence immediately. In an earlier speech Khrushchev said all peoples should have immediate freedom regardless of whether they are ready for it.

Khrushchev claimed the assembly's rostrum twice during Tuesday's debate on where disarmament should be debated first.

His first statement was quiet and reasoned. As expected, he urged a special summit session of the Assembly be convened, somewhere in Europe and early in 1961, to discuss disarmament alone. He said American preoccupation with the presidential election precludes the United States from assuming "any new important obligations" on disarmament.

Western delegates opposed this proposition. Hours later Khrushchev suddenly demanded the rostrum again.

He lumbered onto the dais and began to storm.

He seemed to take the position

Fears Visit Might Backfire

Nikita Canceling Trip to Cuba

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev is reported canceling a planned visit to Cuba—at this time—mainly because he fears it would backfire against the Soviet Union everywhere in Latin America.

Soviet security chiefs are also understood to have warned Khrushchev that mounting unrest and anti-Communist plotting in Cuba might imperil his personal safety. This information comes from Iron Curtain officials who are in a position to know something about the Kremlin leader's decisions and moods.

He had tentatively scheduled a three-day goodwill visit to Cuba at the end of his United Nations appearance, they reported. Castro was under the impression he would come when he left New York to return to Havana 10 days ago.

But Khrushchev changed his mind, these informants said, when told his much-publicized meetings with Castro in New York already had badly hurt Soviet prestige in Latin America.

Q—When was the first "modern" presidential campaign?

A—The 1840 campaign, won by William Henry Harrison, considered so because a real propaganda build-up was created. Harrison, though son of a wealthy man, was called a plain backwoodsman. "Old Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too," became a popular song, and there was a great deal of campaign hoop-la.

Top U.S. Mediator to Heard New IUE-GE Peace Confab

NEW YORK (AP)—The federal government's top mediator will head new peace discussions Thursday between the General Electric Co. and the striking International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE).

Mediators met for the third time with both sides Tuesday and reported no progress in settling the strike, now in its second week. The conciliation team already on the scene was joined Tuesday by Walter A. Maggioni, national director of federal mediation. The IUE called a strike of its 77,000 members in 55 GE plants Oct. 2. Production was at a virtual standstill in GE's key plant at Schenectady, N.Y., and was jampered at Syracuse, N.Y., Lynn and Pittsfield, Mass., and other points.

While much of the picket line skirmishes that marked the early days of the strike have diminished, some violence was reported at widely scattered plants. The IUE has filed two charges of unfair labor practice against the company, and yesterday GE retaliated by filing with the National Labor Relations Board a similar charge against the union, refusing to bargain "in good faith." A $10,000 contribution to the trial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, which said there was "more where that came from."

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN
Staph Germ Has New Foe to Beat

On previous occasions I have called attention to the havoc wrought by a resistant strain of staphylococci, an organism formerly regarded as bacterial "weak sister" if not a normal and harmless inhabitant of all skin surfaces and body cavities.

Perhaps you remember columns that dealt with the alarming increase in the fire power of this once lowly and despised enemy. It has recently invaded the operating rooms and wards of Dr. H. T. Hyman hospitals, producing surgical complications of all sorts, some fatal. And perhaps you recall the column that specifically called attention to the fifth column activity of the now feared "staph" that infiltrated homes as stowaway in and on the bodies of newborn infants.

Nationwide publicity was given the "golden staph" (staphylococcus aureus) that necessitated the hospitalization of Vice President Nixon at the beginning of his campaign for the Presidency.

Now, thanks to the joint effort of Dr. John C. Sheehan of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a group of British scientists, an effective defense against the enemy is at hand.

LET ME TRY to outline the steps that led to the discovery of the new agent, to be called Staph-icillin in the U.S.A., and thus answer the many inquiries that have come to me requesting information on means of combating the menace.

First came the discovery of penicillin, prepared from a living mold with which scientists had been familiar for many years.

Next came clinical reports that the new miracle drug not only worked in the laboratory but effected the cure of patients suffering from a variety of infections including those caused by staphylococci.

Third came a slowly mounting group of observations from all over the world that the family of staphs was producing a strain that "paid no mind" to the new drugs and went along raising particular need just as if no one had ever heard of penicillin.

FOURTH CAME even more alarming reports to the effect that penicillin was beginning to kick back at patients, producing serious reactions, sometimes fatal.

Next, from the bull pen, came a rookie pitcher called penicillinase who was able to strike out penicillin reactions.

Sixth came the theory that maybe the pesky staph was as smart as our scientists and that the resistant strain had also learned to manufacture penicillinase.

Then came the real pay-off that gave our scientists another round in this seemingly never-ending battle when they produced an anti-penicillinase just as the military works on our behalf to produce anti-missile missiles and anti-missile missiles. And finally the perfection of a now available drug that combines effective penicillin with an effective anti-penicillinase.

And you think your job is complicated?

No Mess In Washington Today

In 1952, the Republican party clinched a presidential victory by nominating Dwight D. Eisenhower. His personal popularity outshone the undeniable brilliance of Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee.

In 1960 it's useful to remember something about that 1952 campaign and election.

Eisenhower's tremendous margin of victory — 39 states to 9 — was more than a tribute to his popularity. It was the voters' rebuke to a political coalition whose failure to govern had created the "mess in Washington."

Gov. Stevenson, despite his attractiveness, could not rise above the scandals that had disgraced the Truman administration. It was pointed out then and needs to be remembered now that the federal government had fallen to such low esteem in 1952 that the majority of the American people were clamoring for sweeping reform.

They did not think the same ragged coalition that had been led first by Franklin D. Roosevelt and then, through accidental inheritance, by Harry Truman could change what it had been guilty of causing.

Whether or not they might have thought the Republican party under party-line leadership, like that of Sen. Taft, could have done the job is problematic.

They did think a new atmosphere would be created by Dwight Eisenhower, a political outsider who had chosen to turn Republican. They were right.

PARTY-LINE Republicans were unhappy about the reconstitution of their party under the Eisenhower administration in 1952. Some of them have remained unhappy ever since.

But events passed them by. The Eisenhower leadership was given an even stronger mandate in 1956 — 42 states to 6. Without the two-term limit on the presidency, Dwight Eisenhower could have run again this year with bright prospects of scoring another overwhelming victory.

Why? Because there is no "mess in Washington." There is no general dissatisfaction among the American people. There are problems; there always are. There are discontented people; there always are.

Let Red China Do the Guessing

Any time the government of Red China wants to find out if the United States would go to war over invasion of Quemoy and Matsu, it can start an invasion.

If it did start an invasion, that would be the signal for a quick buildup of resources to defend Formosa. The islands are of no great consequence in themselves. They are a pair of tin cans tied together with a string to trip up an after-dark trespasser.

Red China could not afford to bypass them in a frontal attack on Formosa. It has not been able to afford to invade them, either, because the United States is letting Red China do the guessing about the consequences. Although the direct responsibility for war over Formosa lies between the Communist government of mainland China and the Nationalist government on Formosa, the Nationalist government is wholly dependent on the U.S. fleet and U.S. military supplies for security.

Sen. Kennedy is uneasy about the possibility the United States might get involved in war over Quemoy and Matsu. When Dean Acheson was secretary of state, he was uneasy about the possibility the United States might get involved in war over Korea. He settled his uneasiness by telling Red China indirectly and North Korea directly that the United States would not try to defend South Korea—and that was all the Communist Conspiracy needed to know. Whereupon, the United States went to war to defend Korea anyway.

If Red China tries to capture Formosa, the United States will go to war to defend it. Whether or not it would go to war if the first invasion was on Quemoy and Matsu is something for strategists in Peiping to wonder about. It makes no sense to invite them to occupy the islands by telling them in advance they'd encounter nothing but local resistance.

Absentee Voting

Absentee voters' ballots are now available from the County Election Board office, so there's little excuse for people who know they will be away from their voting precinct Nov. 8 not to cast their votes.

Absentee ballots also are for the sick or disabled.

You may be ill or bedridden but by virtue of the absentee ballot your vote will be counted with the rest after the polls close on election day. Have a friend or relative obtain an absentee ballot for you today.

Once Over

Americans are coming up to election time muddled over what appear to be three great issues: (1) Which candidate for the White House can guarantee the best-dressed wife on a reasonable budget; (2) Whether a "Pat Week" or a "Jacqueline Day" would do most for national security; (3) Which party is best equipped in hair styles for the global struggle ahead?

Women's vote may hang largely on issue whether a nation can exist half expensively dressed on half last year's attire?

Can America go forward more resolutely in Paris imports or in native U. S. cloak and suit garments.

Can we best penetrate "new frontiers" if our women folk have wardrobes large, medium or small?

Voters are confused despite denials that the wife of either candidate spends too much on clothes. It is possible millions of women who don't look too good, regardless of their wardrobes, will go to the polls to vote "no" against both Pat and Jacqueline.

Then there are women who don't even try to dress well and parade around city centers half naked, sloppy looking and pretty comical.

They may resent any man in the White House whose wife puts on enough clothes, tries to be wholesome in appearance and never seems to be posing for comic valentines.

"The great uncertain vote" says Mortimer Topblower, "is that of fat and shapeless females who think they should look like a commercial for the promotion of witches to haunt a house."

They would vote if possible for a president

But Americans like a kind of government that put the nation ahead of the political party in control of the White House. They like President Eisenhower's doctrine of being chief executive in behalf of all the people. Until the 1960 campaign finally got under way, there was no bill of particulars against the way the federal government was being operated.

Washington was clean — not always as efficient or as wise as everybody could wish, but clean. There had been economic growth without equal. Government authority had been whittled back. Inflation had been kept under control.

Despite criticism, the nation's defense posture was good. It was on good terms with its allies. Its opponents were obstreperous, as always, but they were being kept at a distance. There was no sense of despair, despite the professional political pessimists.

FOR THE FIRST time in the history of the United States, a chief executive rose above petty partisanship and permitted a vice president to share his duties. The people liked that, too. Mr. Eisenhower was ill three times, and Mr. Nixon was able to stand in for his chief without causing a hitch in the functions of the presidency.

Perhaps the Eisenhower era had erased too many memories of the "mess in Washington" eight years ago.

Perhaps the return to party government after 20 years of coalition rule was such a relief that it blotted out recollection of the popular rebuke to Trumanism, which was the philosophy of yielding to the bloc with the most votes.

Perhaps the American people have such short memories that no sour note is struck in 1960 when the coalition's new candidate promises to go back to the Fair Deal and the New Deal; when he promises to revive big government, big spending and big trespasses on private enterprise.

However that may turn out to be — and pollsters aren't much help — all voters can agree on one thing. They can all be thankful there is no "mess in Washington" today.

Salem's $84,960 United Appeal drive opened Oct. 4. Slightly more than a week has passed and less than one-fourth of the goal has been reached.

Twelve Community Chest agencies and the Red Cross, which comprise the United Appeal this year, rely heavily on the community fund drive for operational monies. Some could not function without this support, so it is imperative that every civic-minded individual and organization share in the united effort by active participation.

Support the United Appeal with a gift you can share with others less-fortunate than yourself. The Salem campaign went over the top last year and it can succeed again if YOU help.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel
It's quick cops and robbers stuff about the doings of Al Pillotto, president of Chicago area's Hod Carriers Local 5.

President Pillotto broke into the news two weeks ago as a possible witness in the income tax evasion trial of Al Capone's ex-bodyguard, Tony Accardo. Five agencies checked him immediately. They found that this protector of the laboring proletariat had served time for armed robbery in Chicago Heights.

Pillotto was found by the gendarmerie to be an imaginative fellow in all ends of the music and entertainment business from Joliet to Calumet City.

HIS INTERESTS—social and financial—ran all the way from bookie to strip tease joints, though he has been an active member and leader since he joined the Hod Carriers on Aug. 13, 1945. But when President Pillotto's name flipped in and out of the news the other week, there was no apparent stirring in the eight-story limestone International Hod Carriers Building in Washington.

Some folks thought this rather curious and were unhappy over the possibility that national leaders should think this link with the Chicago syndicate was isolated.

A little digging hit on the following report in Sen. McClellan's and Robert Kennedy's congressional documents:

"On Jan. 22, 1955 (there was a wedding given by Claude Maddox, one of Chicago's top hoodlums—VR)... Among those present at the reception was Paul 'the Walter' Ricca, Tony Accardo, Joseph Aiuppa, John Accardo, and numerous others."

"And the cars bringing guests to the reception bore license plates issued to... the (Teamsters) Produce Drivers Union, Local 703, 216 S. Ashland ave., to the Hotel, Club, Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union, Suburban Local 4550, 2137 S. Cicero ave., Chicago; Picture Frame Workers Union, 731 Southwestern ave., Chicago... and to the International Hod Carriers Union, 814 W. Harrison st., Chicago, Ill."

THE HOST of the wedding, Claude Maddox, departed this earth more peacefully in 1958 than those he was suspected of setting up for the St. Valentine's Day massacre.

It was not surprising that some union officials in some areas contiguous to the late Mr. Maddox should come when invited.

What is surprising, then, is the bitterness shown in some sections when such things surge into the public prints. One would think that responsibility for such scandal rests on the prosecuting authorities and the news men.

What is startling is that those in high places should be so naïve—or whatever you call it—as to believe that the men of muscle are not doing business as usual.

What is surprising is that the American Bar Association has permitted one of its group to criticize the Department of Labor's probes of scores of union locals. This attack upon the government was made by a sub-committee of three of the BA's Association's Labor Law Section.

What is surprising is word from Washington of efforts to prevent Sen. McClellan from continuing his probe after Election Day.

THE GENTLEMAN from Arkansas has not the slightest intention of quitting. Rather he told a group in Dallas the other day, he not only intended to push his investigations but would submit a series of new laws to strengthen the hand of the secretary of labor.

"I also intend," said the crusading senator, "to offer an amendment to give the secretary of labor the power to intervene in union matters on behalf of the members to insure that their rights are protected."

In view of all these social notes from Chicago, who can say the senator is wrong. Especially if no one else will do it.

The American Way

By Dr. GEORGE S. BENSON

Definition Based on Three Great 'Pillars'

Some of the most loyal citizens in America are aiding the Communist cause unwittingly.

The Communist agents among us are many and they are skilled in their nefarious work. They have enlisted tens of thousands of non-Communist Americans in their hundreds of Communist fronts, thus creating a powerful force working for Communist world-wide objectives. But one of the most destructive tactics is that of keeping American opinion shattered into many fragmentary groups, badly divided on basic issues, undecided on basic principles.

FOR INSTANCE, the Communists have persuaded many influential Americans that there is really no specific definition for the term "The American way of life."

These loyal but misguided Americans contend that the term is "an abstraction," that there are as many definitions for it as there are people. This means that we haven't any common ideology for Americans to stand for.

At least that is what some Americans say, influenced by subtle Communist thought-shaping. But it is a fallacy. There is a specific definition for "The American way of life." It is acceptable to all Americans—whatever their race, creed or color, whatever their calling, whatever their economic station in life. We can all rally around it and defend it, if we know about it and understand it.

An acceptable definition for "The American way of life" is: A social system built upon the foundation of Faith in God, with a governmental system anchored to the United States Constitution, (a Republic), and with a capitalistic economic system having as its keystones the principles of private ownership of property, the competitive market, and the profit motive.

IT CAN BE put even more simply: Faith in God, Constitutional Government, Private Enterprise. Here are the three great pillars of our American system.

They are not complex or abstract. They are understandable. And every American can stand for them proudly. Every American likewise has the responsibility to defend them, to safeguard them from erosion, undermining, gradual smothering, or outright destruction.

Let's examine the first, foundation pillar: Faith in God. The leaders among the Pilgrim families who settled along our eastern shores 350 years ago were Godly people.

The Mayflower arrived off Plymouth Rock on a Saturday evening; but all day Sunday the historic voyagers remained aboard the little ship and worshipped God. That day too they created and signed the Mayflower Compact, which began — "In the name of God, Amen..."

WHEN THE PILGRIMS built their communities, the church was the very first building to go up. In all of America's founding documents, the leadership of our rising young nation expressed a beautiful reverence for God Almighty, a deep and abiding faith. The great Declaration of Independence ended with the immortal words: "...with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence...we pledge." Jefferson himself said: "The God who gave us life gave us Liberty." At the Constitutional Convention, the delegates prayed.

It is vitally important to understand that only a people who are spiritually motivated and guided from within can be free. If our allegiance were not to a Higher Power — to God — our moral code would be man-made, or rather self-made.

To be selfish would not be wrong. To covet would not be wrong. But, the first Russian Communist, said: "Let your own happiness be your guide to life." Without moral underpinning, this is an invitation to the lowest animal impulses.

WHERE PEOPLE ARE motivated by such a Godless code, the police state is necessary. There is no inner compulsion to do right.

Our laws in America come out of the moral concepts of Right. Since we are a Godly nation the average citizen breaks a law only accidentally. This has been true through the course of our history.

Now, however, crime is on the increase. And every day more and more Americans are breaking the more important, the moral laws of God.

This is getting at the root of our gravest problems. The foundation stone of our American system is being eroded.

We need to recognize it as the foundation stone, and we need to be sure that in the heart and the behavior of each of us it becomes the foundation stone for our every action.

Put It In Writing

By TRUMAN TWILL

On this day I made one of the rare speeches I occasionally get conned into making, and it stirred afresh all my doubts about this folkway.

Everybody concerned would have been better off in the long run if I had remained seated while the chairman passed out to the members printed copies of what I had prepared for the occasion.

The listeners then could have gone to their comfortable homes and exercised the option to throw their copy away or glance over it to see if they were interested.

The more I hear, the more certain I am that the only sound use for public speaking is exhortation. The medium is misused for all other purposes, except humor.

I would walk three miles in the rain to hear a genuinely funny man do his stuff on a speaker's platform. I would walk five miles to hear a spellbinder put on his act. But for all other speeches, I wouldn't stir out of my chair. These are the ones that should be put into print and passed out for whatever ultimate disposal seemed suitable.

One other kind of speech-making fascinates me — the pitchman's spiel. Every time I look for a can opener in the kitchen, I run across a dingus that was so ably pitched by a speller at the county fair that I paid a dollar for it.

In actual truth, I paid the dollar for the spiel. We already had half a dozen other useless gads at home that had been bought under the same circumstances.

Years have passed since I bought the last one, and I have yet to discover in my own hands any of the marvelous uses the speller demonstrated before my eyes. That, however, isn't public speaking. It's salesmanship.

Another season of public speaking now is breaking over the land, paced by the 1960 political candidates. By the time they're through, our ears will be sagging and our willingness to listen will be paralyzed. But public speakers will drone on, unheard and unheeded.

The shrewdest thing they could do — if they dared — would be to acknowledge this by refusing to indulge in any more harangue. One day, a seeker of high office in this country will hire a team of gagsmen from show business and turn himself into an out-and-out entertainer. He will win.

This has been done successfully by some of the small fry in office-seeking. It works. People come to see them and to be entertained, and they go away satisfied.

There should be no neglect of serious things. But they should be tended to through the printed word. I find myself unable to grasp the intricacies of deep-dish speechmaking when momentous issues are under discussion. I don't really know what was said until I read a text.

There is nothing peculiar about my inability to stay on the track. When other people try to tell me "what the man said," once I have examined the text of what he really said, they make only wild and weird approximations of what he actually said.

But the folkway hangs on and on and on. Speeches must be made, and people must listen. Chairs are hard and spoken words are inadequate.

Put it in writing and let the victims go home early.

Highland Christian Church Marks 100th Anniversary

The two most important words in the New Testament are "one" and "another" in the opinion of Rev. Harry McFadden of Youngstown, who was guest speaker when the Highland Christian Church held its 100th anniversary celebration service Sunday afternoon.

Te Rev. Mr. McFadden, pastor of the Hillman Christian Church in that city, based his sermon on these Bible verses:

"A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another."

The pastor of the church, Rev. W. Grant Ward, presided.

Rev. Frank O. Lillie, pastor of the Columbiana Christian Church, song leader, offered a vocal solo. Other special numbers were a vocal solo by Rev. Gene Marvin, pastor of the Phillips Christian Church, a song by the Lease sisters, Anna Jean, Lillian and Shirley, and a selection by a robed youth choir. Mrs. Maude Driscoll was the pianist.

Rev. Lawrence Linton of Salem, a former pastor of this church, offered prayer. Mrs. Elizabeth Harris, historian, read an article on church history written by Miss Pearl Walker of Salem.

Among the visitors present who had attended this church in former years were six brothers, Harry Vincent of Compton, Calif., and Frank, John, Walter, James and Bert Vincent of this area. They were all accompanied by their wives. Others present from Salem who formerly attended were Mrs. Hazel Camp Beck, Mrs. Anna

Mrs. David Lee Brantingham

Clegg-Brantingham Vows Are Exchanged At Canton

Seven members of the bridegroom's family and three members of the bride's family had part in the beautifully appointed wedding of Miss Lestia G. Clegg and Rev. David Lee Brantingham Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Canton Deuber Avenue Methodist Church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Clegg of North Jackson, and the bridegroom's parents are Rev. and Mrs. Paul Brantingham of Tecumseh, Mich. David's father officiated in the double ring ceremony; his oldest brother, Rev. John Brantingham of Berlinville, offered prayer. Four other brothers in the wedding party were Robert, of Columbus, who served as best man; Jim, a ministerial student at Canton Malone College, and Ben S., of Tecumseh, who were ushers, and Sammy, the ring bearer. His only sister, four-year-old Paula, was one of two flower girls.

The bride's sister, Carolyn, was one of four bridesmaids, and her two brothers, Tom and Charles, ushered. Others in the bridal party were Miss Linda E. Bashor, maid of honor, and Miss Janet Martin and Miss Betty Henry, bridesmaids. Lestia Bopp was flower girl.

Fashioned of white tulle over white taffeta, the bride's distinctive colonial gown was ornamented with flowered sequins. Her tulle veil was caught in a crown of sequins and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis, and English Ivy. Miss Clegg was given in marriage by her parents. Emerald green and royal blue tones predominated in the bride's attendants' dresses. The maid of honor and flower girls appeared in green, while the bridesmaids wore blue. They were all styled with short full skirts, fitted bodices, puffed sleeves and boat necklines and made of silk organza over taffeta. All carried matching parasols ornamented with white pompons. All wore Dior bow headbands.

The altar setting of greenery was enhanced by vases of white fall flowers. The setting featured an archway of vines and bows of wide white satin ribbon and was flanked by tall seven-branch candelabras. The couple stood in front of the archway to speak their wedding vows. Both talented musicians, they each sang one verse of the song, "Eternally," to the other. While the couple knelt at the altar, Ronald Spalding of Canton sang "The Lord's Prayer." While the guests were being seated, he sang "Always" and "Whither Thou Goest." He was accompanied by Mrs. Lynn Smith, who also played the organ prelude.

Mrs. Clegg wore a costume of royal blue wool with black accessories, while Mrs. Brantingham was attired in a flowered silk dress with purple accessories. Each mother complemented her dress with an orchid corsage.

The wedding reception was held in the church recreational room. A five-tiered wedding cake topped with a floral ornament centered the refreshment table. The women of the church served the refreshments.

Miss Sandra Ewing of Salem, a cousin of the bridegroom, registered the guests. Approximately 300 relatives and friends attended the wedding. Some of them were from Salem, Tecumseh, Mich., Columbus, Gates Mills, Winona, Youngstown, Damascus, North Jackson, Cortland, Austin, Milan and Canfield.

Mrs. Brantingham attended Malone College and Youngstown University and was employed by the Dollar Savings & Trust Company, Youngstown. Rev. Brantingham was graduated from Salem High School and Malone College. He is beginning his second year as assistant pastor and youth director of the Canton Deuber Avenue Methodist Church.

When the newlyweds return from a honeymoon trip to Williamsburg, Va., and the Skyline Drive, they will reside at 305 13th St., NE, Canton.

For traveling the bride wore a black taffeta costume with royal blue accessories and a corsage. The wedding rehearsal dinner on Friday evening was at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Wilson in Canton. Dr. Wilson is pastor of the Deuber Avenue Methodist Church.

Winona Needlework Guild Plans Ingathering Oct. 21

The Winona Branch of Needlework Guild of America is one of 400 in 36 states, each helping to supply homes, hospitals, schools and social agencies in its own area with wearing apparel for children and adults.

Once a year an appeal goes out for more members who will give at least two new articles of clothing or household linen, the sole membership requirement of this non-sectarian group.

"New Garments for the Needy" is the slogan of the NGA, the now nation-wide charitable organization which was founded in Philadelphia in 1885. To back up their faith in the morale-building power of new clothing for those in need of a helping hand, members have given close to 72 million articles in the past 75 years.

The Guild stresses service at the local level. Mrs. Reber Heacock, president of the Winona Branch, announces the annual ingathering of garments for Oct. 27. She pointed out that last year 453 garments were collected and given out to several local community agencies and needy families. More contributions are needed this year to insure an adequate supply of clothing, she said.

All garments contributed will be on display at the annual meeting which begins at 10 a.m. in the Methodist Church social rooms.

There will be a sack lunch at noon. The time will be spent sewing for retarded children and making aprons for the County Home to assist in a project to secure a sewing machine for the Home.

Anyone interested is welcome to attend. The Guild will welcome new members.

gain a little neutrality mileage for themselves by "abstaining."

Many a so-called "neutral" finds it desirable now and then not to offend the Communist bloc, especially when on the opposite side no offense is felt by the United States against the member countries that abstain from voting.

When is Sen. Kennedy going to come to grips with the real problem that will confront the United States. The question of whether the assembly should or should not debate the admission of Red China is a relatively minor one.

After there is a vote to begin debate, another vote has to be taken and a two-thirds majority recorded before Red China is admitted to the General Assembly.

Even then, it would be possible for Red China to be a member of the assembly without being admitted to the Security Council, in which the United States has a veto.

Mr. Lodge already has stated that such a veto would be exercised in the Security Council.

Nationalist China could, therefore, remain in the Security Council while Red China held China's seat in the General Assembly.

The question is one that really involves the right of both bodies to pass on the credentials of factions within a given country.

IT WOULD BE a sad day for the Soviet Union if it took the position that the assembly may pass judgment on whether a particular government is representative of its people.

Thus, the recognition of governments-in-exile has been accepted before in international law and it might be that there will arise governments-in-exile to challenge the right of the present representatives of Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Albania, Bulgaria, the Ukraine and Romania to sit in the United Nations General Assembly.

There's a long and tempestuous course ahead for Red China, and those who are predicting "eventual" admission—as are Mr. Nehru and Sen. Morse—are forgetting the barriers that lie ahead.

What's more important to the American people at the moment is whether Mr. Kennedy, as president, would instruct the American representative in the United Nations to vote against the admission of Red China or to "abstain."

This is the real issue and pledge on this is essential to an understanding of whether, under a Democratic administration, the trend is going to be toward favoring Communist China to the discouragement of the million or more troops in South Korea, Formosa and the Philippines who now are protecting our military position in the Far East.

"We won't be bullied. We won't be scared," he thundered. "If you want to compete with us in the armaments race, we will beat you at that. Our rockets come out like sausages from the machine. Do you want to try us out?"

Later he returned to this theme in another roaring passage.

"We are not bulls to be scared at red cloths. We are Communists. Our nerves are strong. Do you want to scare us with arguments? You haven't got the guts to do it."

"We are no' afraid of war. If a war is to be foisted on us, we will be victorious regardless of sacrifices. But the losses will be uncountable and appalling."

He told the delegates: "Some of you will not be here" if a nuclear war breaks out.

Khrushchev said he is ready to go back to Moscow Thursday night. But he added he would prolong his stay in New York if it appeared there was any hope of progress on disarmament.

Watch In Strong Silence

Communist delegations matched his explosive words with explosions of applause. The majority of delegates watched in stony silence.

James J. Wadsworth, chief U.S. delegate, who spoke in rebuttal to the Soviet premier, earned a great burst of applause when he said:

"If the intervention which we have just heard from the representative of the Soviet Union is typical of what he would say in the disarmament debate, that is all the more reason why it should not be held in this chamber."

Khrushchev was still raging when he left the assembly and went to the Soviet delegation's Park Avenue residence.

"We have been defeated—the country fighting for disarmament," he told newsmen.

"Those who support the position of the United States can celebrate a victory. They put off again the decision for discussion of disarmament."

"These are steps closer to war. It is not a victory for peace but a victory for those who want war."

Nixon

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, be given the Oct. 21 spot.

There's no doubt that Nixon thinks he has something hot in Quoniam and Matsui.

He hit hard at Kennedy in speeches Tuesday in San Diego before more than 10,000 roaring partisans in the ball park, and in Albuquerque, N.M., where 6,000 heard him.

"You'll be hearing a lot about them (Quoniam and Matsui) in the next few weeks and months because they have become a symbol, a major issue, in the presidential campaign," Nixon said.

Charter Explained At Lions' Meeting

The proposed charter commission for Salem was discussed by John Taylor when he spoke to members of the Lions Club Tuesday night at a meeting in the Lape Hotel.

Another speaker was Harry Lodge, a member of the city fire department, who spoke of the firemen's 56-hour week which will be on the Nov. 8 ballots.

Mr. Taylor, in his talk, pointed out that the Ohio Constitution provides the people of state with the opportunity to call a constitutional convention every 20 years to re-examine state government and he said "the charter question is on the ballot because the Constitution provides a similar opportunity for municipal governments."

He urged an affirmative vote on the charter question because "we should take advantage of this opportunity to re-examine our municipal government to see if we can not make it more sensitive to our local problems."

Mayor Dean Cranmer, who also was present, emphasized that an affirmative vote did not commit the people of Salem to any changes because the charter written by the commission would have to be approved by the people of Salem at the November election a year from now.

According to the Patrol, the vehicles were headed in opposite directions when the mishap occurred. Neither driver was injured.

E. Palestine Council Acts on Bond Sale

EAST PALESTINE—City Council at a special meeting Tuesday night passed emergency legislation authorizing the McDonald & Co. of Cleveland to sell $600,000 in mortgage revenue bonds which will provide for improvements at the municipal light plant.

Final agreement was reached on an electric rate increase necessary to retire the bonds. The new rate calls for an average 31 per cent hike for industrial users and a flat 73 cents per month increase for residential users. Earlier proposals had been rejected by council as placing too much of the burden on industrial users.

The bonding firm will prepare legislation for the increases and present it for council's approval Monday night.

The first collection date under the new schedule will be Jan. 1 and will cover December's reading.

English Roly-Poly Delicious

My, how the Roly-Poly has been given the run-around.

This famous pudding, the heritage of all good little English girls and boys, is made traditionally from paste spread with fruit or jam. It's boiled, teamed or baked.

A recipe for the dessert was given by Miss Leslie, the famous American cook-book writer of the 1850's. But how sedate Miss Leslie was! She changed Roly-Poly's delicious name to "Rolled Pudding." It's hard to forgive her.

Fanny Farmer did no better. When her cook book first appeared in the 1890's she called Roly-Poly "Steamed Apple Pudding." But then this is no surprise — Miss Farmer was very serious and slightly austere.

It wasn't until the 1920's and '30's that we find Roly-Poly's recipe given under its delightful, rightful name. But alas, these days Roly-Poly's recipe and name have gone out of fashion. Standard modern cook books neglect it woefully.

Let's reinstate the Roly-Poly. Children will love its sweet and hearty qualities as well as its name.

Here's a variation on the basic recipe. We found it fine to serve our family on a night when we were feeding them chowder and salad.

Applemince Roly-Poly

2 cups biscuit mix, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg (slightly beaten) 1-3 cup

(about) milk, 1 can (about 1 pound) or 2 cups apple sauce, 1 1-3 cups drained mince meat.

Spicy Syrup

Stir together biscuit mix and sugar; add egg and enough milk to make a stiff dough. Roll out to 12 by 14 inches. Heat apple sauce and thick mince meat; spread over dough. Beginning at narrow side, roll up; cut into 12 crosswise slices; place on greased baking pan (13 by 9 by 3 inches). Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 10 minutes. Pour hot Spicy Syrup over rolls and continue baking 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Spicy Syrup: Mix together 1-3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, a dash of salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg; gradually add 2 cups apple juice, stirring until smooth after each addition; cook and stir constantly until thickened. Stir in 2 tablespoons margarine until melted.

Tasty Cauliflower

How does this read for Sunday dinner—a large attractive round platter; in the center, a head of lightly cooked cauliflower; on one side, a pile of tender, vivid, fresh green beans; on the other, a pile of bright, lightly cooked carrots sprinkled with chopped dill or parsley, melted butter, salt and pepper on top?

That's all? If your family enjoys fresh vegetables, then this is their dish.

To Cook Cauliflower (do not overcook): 1. For whole cauliflower, cook in moderate amount of boiling water in uncovered saucepan only until crisp-tender. This method produces a milder flavor, but more of the nutrients are lost.

2. Cook, using about 1-inch boiling water in the pan with cover off during the first half of the cooking period, or leave cover on entire time, but lift lid 3 to 4 times to permit escape of gases.

3. Another method is to break cauliflower into flowerettes and cook ONLY until crisp-tender in small amount of water in covered saucepan. This method cooks vegetable so quickly no strong flavors develop.

Skillet Creole Cauliflower (6 servings)

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, ¼ cup chopped onion, 1 cup chopped green pepper, 1 cup sliced celery, 1 cup diced, fresh tomatoes; 3 cups sliced cauliflower; 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper.

Melt butter or margarine in 10-inch skillet. Add remaining ingredients. Cover. Cook 10 to 12 minutes or until vegetables are tender. (Do not overcook).

Raw Cauliflower Vegetable Salad Rub salad bowl with peeled, cut clove of garlic. Break up crisp salad greens, any combination and amounts desired, along with shredded fresh, crisp, cauliflower leaves and the tender ribs.

Add raw cauliflower flowerettes, white or purple onion rings, sliced tomatoes and raw sliced celery.

Toss, just before serving, with tasty French dressing.

Cheese Chicken is Delicious Combination

Among the current food plentiful are broiling and frying chickens. Home economists have developed a delicious combination of chicken and cheese sprinkled throughout with mushroom and olive slices — they call it Company Cheese-Chicken Bake.

Convenient to prepare, you might consider making this recipe in two stages if this is more in accord with your schedule. Chicken can be cooked in advance and then combined with other ingredients and baked for 30 to 35 minutes at mealtime.

The flavor of this cheese-chicken bake has already won the hearts of the men who have tasted it. Chateau process cheese food with its distinctive flavor and fine melting qualities makes this a choice recipe.

Company Cheese-Chicken Bake
1 (3 to 4 pound) chicken, 2 cups cooked rice, 4 cups (1-pound) Chateau cheese, shredded, 2 (3-ounce) cans sliced mushrooms, drained, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped or sliced stuffed green olives, 1 1/2 cups light cream, 1-3 to 2-3 cup cooking sherry, 1/2 cup sliced or whole blanched almonds.

Cut chicken into serving pieces. Coat chicken lightly with combined salt, pepper and flour. Cook in hot fat in skillet until golden brown but not thoroughly done.

Layer half the chicken, rice, shredded cheese food, mushrooms and olives in 2-quart casserole. Pour half of cream and sherry over this. Layer the remaining chicken, rice and cheese food on top.

Arrange remaining mushrooms and olives over mixture. Add remaining cream and sherry. Sprinkle with almonds. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 30 to 35 minutes or until almonds are browned and cheese is melted.

Classy Cherry Rolls

Here's an easy idea to dress up any eating occasion...whether it be regular meals, a party, or a late evening snack. These Classy Cherry Rolls add a "special-occasion" touch to any dining event, especially that fancy breakfast for guests. They can be served individually, or heaped in a basket (as shown) to form a conversation piece for your table. They're attractive, tasty and easy to make.

1 No. 303 (1 lb.) can water pack red cherries, 1/2 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring, 1 package hot roll mix, 3 tablespoons soft butter, 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons cream.

Combine the cherries, sugar, cornstarch and salt. Cook until the mixture is thick and clear, stirring constantly. Add the almond flavoring. Cool. Prepare the hot roll mix according to package directions for rich dough. When the dough is ready for shaping, roll it to a 12 x 8-inch rectangle. Dot with a tablespoon of the butter, fold the dough. Repeat twice.

Roll to about 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into 2-inch rounds. Place on greased baking sheets. Let rise in a warm place until light, about 30 minutes. Press an indentation in center of each roll. Fill each with the cherry filling.

Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for 15 to 18 minutes. Make icing by combining confectioners' sugar and cream; drizzle over baked rolls.

Yield: 24 rolls.
After you open bottled horse-radish, use it up as fast as you can. Even though it is kept tightly covered and refrigerated, it will lose strength if it stands any length of time.

You'll Like Chocolate Nut Bread

Some sweet bread recipes catch on — for good reason. They taste and look wonderfully professional, and yet a home cook can bake them successfully.

We've been watching one of these go the rounds. Some years ago it won a Michigan cook a first prize at a bake-off. Then an Idaho restaurateur, proud of a particular version, contributed its rule to a cook book devoted to recipes from famous eating places.

This latest New York edition, an aid to delicious dunking, differs from other recipes of its kind in calling for sweet cream. If your testers are like mine, they'll want this version put in your permanent recipe file. Please note one feature: the dough is chilled and requires neither kneading nor rising periods in a warm place.

Coffee Cake Crisps

1 1/3 cup heavy cream
2/3 Cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup warm water
1 envelope active dry yeast
1 egg (separated)
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons finely chopped walnuts or pecans

Scald cream; add butter and salt; cool to lukewarm. Stir yeast into water to dissolve; stir in egg yolk, lukewarm cream mixture and vanilla; add to sifted flour and nutmeg; mix well. Cover closely; refrigerate 4 hours or overnight. Sprinkle board with mixed sugar and cinnamon, continuing to do so through whole rolling process to prevent sticking. With floured rolling pin roll out chilled dough so it is 20 by 8 inches. Sprinkle lightly with sugar mixture. Fold short sides over to make 3 layers. Give dough quarter turn; repeat rolling, sprinkling, folding and turning 2 more times. Roll to 20 by 8 inches. Brush with lightly beaten egg white; sprinkle with remaining sugar mixture and nuts. Cut into 1/2-inch strips; place 1 inch apart on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 15 minutes or until browned. Strips spread and become flaky. Remove with wide spatula to wire rack. Serve warm. Makes 2 1/2 dozen.

Don't turn link sausage that you are browning with a fork. Use a spoon and roll over so there will be no danger of pricking. This way juices stay in the sausage.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie

1/2 recipe Flaky Pastry, 1 tablespoon plain gelatin, 1/4 cup cold water, 3 egg yolks, 1 cup sugar, 1 1/4 cups cooked pumpkin, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 3 egg whites.

Line ungreased nine-inch colored aluminum foil pie pan with pastry; prick pastry on bottom, sides.

Bake 12-15 minutes at 450 degrees F. or until golden brown; cool.

Sift gelatin into cold water; set aside.

Combine egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt, nutmeg, cinnamon, ginger in top of double boiler.

Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened.

Add gelatin; stir until dissolved; remove from heat.

Chill until slightly thickened.

Beat egg whites until frothy; add remaining 1/2 cup sugar gradually, beating until stiff.

Fold in chilled mixture.

Pour into baked shell; chill until set.

Flaky Pastry
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup shortening, lard or vegetable oil, 3/4 tablespoons cold water.

Sift flour, salt together into bowl.

Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal; continue cutting until particles start to cling together in little balls about the size of peas.

Mark mixture off into thirds with fork.

Sprinkle about 1 tablespoon water on one part; quickly work it in with fork. Repeat operation on each part, until particles will cling together when pressed between fingers. Dough should not be wet or sticky.

Empty contents of bowl onto sheet of Alcoa Wrap.

Place hands under foil, cup fashion; press dough into ball; wrap; chill 10-15 minutes before rolling.

Yield: 1 9" double crust pie, 2 9" shells or one crust pies.

Fried Chicken Popular Meal

Chicken is the base for this popular family dinner. It's the kind of meal that is easy to prepare and serve and is also nutritionally balanced.

The base is frozen chicken breasts, drumsticks, thighs or wings. Condensed tomato rice soup is combined with the chicken, together with green pepper and onion and seasonings.

For dessert, baked apple slices in a casserole with seasoned cracker crumbs add more good flavor and more nutrition.

Chicken in a Skillet (4 to 6 servings)

Two packages (1 pound each) frozen chicken breasts, drumsticks, thighs, or wings; 3 tablespoons butter or olive oil, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1 small clove garlic, minced; 1/4 teaspoon leaf thyme, 1/4 teaspoon leaf oregano, 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed tomato rice soup, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon red wine or lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, dash pepper.

Thaw chicken as directed on package. In skillet, brown chicken in butter. Add green pepper, onion, garlic, thyme and oregano; cook until vegetables are tender. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; cook over low heat for 45 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Baked Apple Slices (Makes 4 servings)

Four cups thinly sliced apples, 1/4 cup sugar, 4 teaspoons butter, melted, 1 cup seasoned cracker crumbs.

Mix together apples, sugar and butter. Pour into greased casserole. Top with seasoned cracker crumbs. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Remove cover and cook until apples are tender. Serve with cream.

Spaghetti Casserole

1/4 cup chopped onion, 1 pound pork sausage, 1 pound ground beef, 1 teaspoon basil, 1 can tomato puree (2 cups), 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire Sauce, 1 4-ounce can whole mushrooms, 1/4 cup crumbled Bleu Cheese, 2 cups cooked spaghetti, 1/2 cup bread crumbs, 1/2 cup chopped, blanched almonds.

Saute onion, sausage, ground beef until lightly browned; drain off excess grease.

Add basil, tomato puree, sugar, Worcestershire Sauce; simmer 5 minutes.

Remove from heat; add mushrooms, Bleu Cheese.

Line 1 1/2 quart casserole with heavy duty aluminum wrap; grease foil lightly.

Place cooked spaghetti in casserole; pour hot meat mixture over spaghetti.

Sprinkle top with bread crumbs. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees F.; remove from oven.

Sprinkle chopped almonds over top; return to oven 5 minutes.

Yankees Given Slight Edge to Tie Up Series Today

Pirates Still Favored to Win First World Title Since 1925

Mantle Hobbled by Groin Injury; Will Shoot for Home Run Record

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh can wrap up its first world championship since 1925 today by beating the desperate New York Yankees in the sixth World Series game at spacious Forbes Field.

Kansas' Hadl Is Voted Top Backfield Man

John Hadl, the University of Kansas' hard-working quarterback, today was named "back of the week" by the Associated Press for his outstanding role in the defeat of previously unbeaten Iowa State.

The 19-year-old, 191-pound junior, who gave Syracuse's national champions fits the week before with his punting, running and passing, ruined Iowa State with his versatility.

Hadl scored two touchdowns and passed for another in the 28-14 victory.

The Kansas ace was given a good run for the weekly honor by Joe Bellino of Navy, Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, Ronnie Goodwin of Baylor, Keith Lincoln of Washington State, Tommy Wells of Georgia Tech and Jim Kerr of Penn State, among others.

World Series Tid-Bits

By The Associated Press PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees is irked because he has no office in the visitors' clubhouse at Forbes Field. After each series game, Casey has to go to Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh's office to talk to newsmen.

Four girls who work at Forbes Field haven't seen any of the series games. They work for Bankers Lithographing Co., which occupies space under part of the grandstand.

The girls got to watch the Pirates work out Tuesday. One of them mentioned "Virdon Law." The Pirates have no such player. They have a Bill Virdon and a Vernon Law.

Stengel was watching his squad work out when a newsman asked him about the report that somebody had burned the word "Pitt" in his front lawn at Glendale, Calif.

"If they bank with me, they can burn down a little more," said Case, who is president of a bank in his home town.

The longest workout Elroy Face had all season was a four-inning chore at Los Angeles July 20. The Pittsburgh relief ace finally lost an 11-inning game 7-5.

It will be "Porky the Pig" pitching for Pittsburgh today with "Crane," "Sleepy," "Vinegar," "Casper the Ghost," "Skin Head," and "The Baron" in the bullpen.

Translated from the Pirate book of nicknames, this means Bob Friend will be pitching with Fred Green, Joe Gibbon, Wilmer Mizell, George Witt, Tom Cheney and Elroy Face in the bullpen.

The players also have a name for Manager Danny Murtaugh. It is "Bad Body."

Freshman Paces Fairfield-Waterford Harriers to Win

NEW WATERFORD — The Fairfield-Waterford cross-country squad broke into the victory column for the first time this season when it defeated Columbiana, 21-34 in a meet held Tuesday at Columbiana.

Freshman Ronnie Taylor of the Rebels showed his heels to all other runners as he hit the finish line in 11:37. Fairfield-Waterford Coach Bing Newton said the Columbiana course was a little more than two miles long.

Ed Unger turned the distance in 11:52 to complete a 1-2 finish for Fairfield-Waterford. Bill Blosser, running in a meet for the first time, took fifth for the Rebels.

Columbiana's top runners were Blumheart who finished third and Nightengale who came in fourth. Fairfield-Waterford will entertain Springfield Local in a meet at 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Milwaukee third baseman Eddie Mathews is the first National League player in history to hit 30 or more home runs in eight straight seasons.

Pigskin Picks

Buckeyes to Feast on Leaky Purdue Defense

By HAROLD CLAASSEN Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — In fourteen hundred ninety-two, Columbus sailed the ocean blue.

He landed 468 years ago today amidst great confusion. Some of the confusion still exists but it is concentrated primarily among football forecasters. So great was the confusion last week that 17 incorrect picks were scattered among 34 others that were exactly on the button. That cut the season's average to .730.

This week's selections: Mississippi over Tulane: The Rebels' Jake Gibbs is an outstanding quarterback and has accounted for 533 yards, personally, in Mississippi's four straight triumphs this year. He's too much for Tulane to handle.

Iowa over Wisconsin: Two teams that have done better than expected but the Hawkeye speed will prevail.

Ohio State over Purdue: Bob Ferguson, the Ohio State fullback, is 217 pounds of pure dynamite. The Boilermakers present a leaky defense.

Syracuse over Penn State: A Syracuse official called the defending national champions "fat and complacent" after their squeaker with Holy Cross. Penn State will pay the penalty.

Navy over Air Force: A personal duel between the Middies' Joe Bellino and the Falcons' Rich Mayo. Bellino will get the more help.

Missouri over Kansas State: With the greatest of ease.

Erupted Against Michigan State

Iowa, Nation's Number 2 Team, Boasts Swift Backs

By RON SPEER Associated Press Sports Writer IOWA CITY, Iowa. (AP) — A young band of backfield opportunists has turned the Iowa Hawkeyes into one of the leading college football teams in the nation this fall.

This group, whose trade mark is the swift — out-of-the-blue — touchdown strike, has erupted into the No. 2 team in this week's Associated Press poll.

The Hawkeyes' explosive striking power has carried them undefeated through three games.

How do these opportunists operate? Here's an example: Trailing 15-14 late in the game last Saturday and Michigan State threatening to score, Iowa suddenly came up with two touchdowns in less than three minutes and a 27-15 victory.

Sophomore fullback Joe Williams ignited the rally by grabbing the ball from MSU quarterback Tom Wilson and dashing 67 yards to score. Within minutes junior Bernie Wyatt had intercepted a Spartan pass and junior quarterback Wilburn Hollis had sprinted 23 yards for another touchdown.

Was Williams' timely theft the swift — out-of-the-blue — touchdown strike, he was typical of the Hawkeyes' brash defense.

"Wyatt gave the switch signal just before the play began," Williams says. "When he does that I'm supposed to shoot in and go for the quarterback."

"That's right," agrees Asst. Coach Jerry Burns. "Williams was exactly where he was supposed to be at the right moment. It was probably luck that Wilson bobbled the ball but Williams was there and knew what to do when it happened."

Cleveland East, Salem foe Friday, Has 1-3 Record

Last Year's Squad Was State Power

Coach Says 1960 Edition Is Short On Both Experience and Weight

Cleveland East, winners in only one of four games this season, will furnish the football opposition for the unbeaten Salem Quakers Friday night at Reilly Stadium.

Last year at this time, East was flirting with teams on the list of Ohio's top 10 high school grid squads. This year, however, the Clevelanders have been taking their lumps.

Their only victory was a 38-0 pasting administered to winless Cleveland East Tech. Losses have come at the hands of Mansfield,

Brown Loses Rushing Lead To Taylor

For one week, anyway, Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns won't be the National Football League's rushing leader. That honor belongs this week to Jim Taylor of the Green Bay Packers.

With Brown and the Browns idle last week, Taylor moved into first place in the ball carrying department with 281 yards on 63 carries in three games. Brown is second with 240 yards on 43 carries in two games.

Taylor also leads in scoring with 30 points followed by teammate Paul Hornung, 29, and Bob Walston of Philadelphia, 28.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas has moved past Pittsburgh's Bobby Layne into first place in passing. Unitas has completed 47 of 93 for 755 yards and tossed six TD passes. Layne, in second place, has completed 37 of 67 for 730 yards and thrown for seven touchdowns.

Veteran Kyle Rote of New York leads the pass receivers with 19 for 287 yards and four touchdowns.

Wildlife Notes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Wildlife Council says it will discontinue the plan to establish the Elliot's pheasant in southeastern Ohio. The council said the action was taken because it has been established that there is little or no chance for the successful establishment of the species.

The Elliot's pheasant was one of a number of new species of game birds introduced by the division of wildlife in 1953 in order to provide more hunting. The Elliot's pheasant came from south-east China.

Ruffed Grouse and deer become legal game at daylight Saturday, Oct. 11. The season will run through Feb. 25, and hunting hours are daylight to dark excepting the two-day gun deer season, Dec. 15 and 16, when the hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wildlife officials are concerned about squirrel hunters shooting more than the daily limit because some of the squirrels have "warbles." A warble is a swelling under the hide of a squirrel caused by the larvae of a Warble fly.

Wildlife officials say some hunters, when they shoot a squirrel and find he is diseased, discard him and shoot another to take its place. This results in overshooting. Officials said that under one tree in Brush Creek State Forest, 16 diseased squirrels had been discarded.

A rare catch of an American eel has been made in Paint Creek (Ross County), the wildlife division reports. The catch was made in late September by Walter Stanley of Bainbridge on a trotline baited with a hellgrammite. The division said that eels are uncommon in Ohio today, although in pioneer times there were widely distributed and considered good food.

Residents in southwestern Ohio again will have the opportunity to hunt on 765 acres of land in Miami-town (Hamilton County), the Wildlife Council says.

The council has approved renewal of a lease agreement with four landowners for hunting between Nov. 15 and Jan. 2. The leases are for $1 an acre.

The wildlife division says five female wild turkeys have been stocked at Scioto Trail State Forest (Ross County) and four—two toms and two hens—at Pike State Forest (Pike County). This however does not complete the year's stocking program. Others will be released as they are available, the division said.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Duck hunters will do well to get all the information regarding the waterfowl and coot season before heading for the nearest lake, stream or swamp when the season comes in Oct. 20.

First of all, the season opens at noon, Eastern Standard Time and closes at sunset. Also keep in mind that redhead and canvasback ducks may not be taken this season. Also, only one woodcock and one hooded merganser may be included in the daily bag limit of only three ducks. After the first day of open season you will not be permitted more than two days legal bag limit at any time.

Here is another section of the law regarding wounded, live migratory game birds that must be obeyed:

"Every migratory game bird wounded by hunting and reduced to possession by the hunter shall be immediately killed and become a part of the daily bag limit."

ON SEVERAL occasions in the past I have known hunters to wound a duck and take it home to keep as a pet or to be released when it recuperated. So, keep in mind a wounded duck must be killed immediately before you place it in your hunting coat.

I have a few cards giving the sunrise and sunset time that I will be glad to pass along to the hunters on a first come first served basis. None will be mailed unless the hunter requesting one of the cards incloses a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Area duck hunters know about the concentration of locally hatched ducks in one of our swampy sections in this county. This is not a public hunting area and every foot of the land is locally owned. Last season the shooting began at 11:30 a.m. which was a state and federal violation.

THIS YEAR, sufficient enforcement officials will be on hand and all hunters caught in the act of "jumping the gun" will be cited to the proper County Court.

The reason for this "gun-jumping" was on account of the hunters attempting to get to their blinds or to get within shooting range of the ducks, causing the ducks to take off before shooting hours. The proper thing for the hunters to do is stay away from the ducks until time to walk in and begin shooting.

The most wanted violator is the hunter who fires the first shot that touches off the barrage that follows.

There will be two kinds of duck hunters out after ducks on the first day, the "caught" and the "uncaught." The ones caught jumping the gun will be given a citation. Don't holler too long and too loud if you get a citation for violating the law. You don't have to violate a law because "everybody else was doing it."

Whatever action is taken on the heavily criticized Tiger president of one year has been delayed by the surprise transaction that gave John E. Fetzer command of the Detroit Baseball Co. Fetzer, already the principal owner, said he was buying additional stock from a group lead by Kenyon Brown of Los Angeles.

The discharge of Dewitt was widely predicted. It was expected the remaining two years of his contract would have been bought up with Tiger owners paying about $100,000 for the release.

But Dewitt may remain as general manager.

"We'll have to decide about a general manager when we come to it," said Fetzer after he announced the deal that will give him two-thirds of the Tiger stock.

Fetzer, along with radio executive Fred Knorr, whose name retains one-third interest, have been critical of Dewitt's rule. They voiced their displeasure after Joe Gordon quit Oct. 3 as manager despite a 1961 contract.

Dewitt also was in disfavor with many owners because the Tigers finished sixth in the American League, lowest since 1953.

Mount Union Faces 'Jinx' Team in Homecoming Game

If there's such a thing as a "jinx" team on Mount Union's schedule, it's Saturday's Homecoming opponent—Ohio Wesleyan University.

Mount Union has yet to win a game from the Battling Bishops in the 10-game series dating back to 1947.

Although beaten in a 35-0 contest last year, the Raiders have generally come up with a "good, but not good enough" showing

Salem Reserves Play At Home Saturday

The Salem High reserve football squad will entertain the Minerva junior varsity at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Reilly Stadium.

Athletic Director Fred Cope reports that a small admission fee will be charged to help defray expenses.

This will be the second game of the season for the Salem reserves who opened last week by tying East Palestine 16-16.

The reserve game will be the last of three football battles carded for Reilly Field this weekend. The Salem Quakers will entertain Cleveland East at 8 p.m. Friday, and West Branch will play North Lima Saturday afternoon at 2.

Utah State Top Nation's Gridders In Ground Gaining

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time in a full year defending champion Syracuse hasn't a single first place in any of the various national college football offensive departments.

The Orange men swept three of the four principal offensive titles last year, but figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show the best it has been able to do to date this season is a fourth place in rushing.

Unheralded Utah State took over as the No. 1 ground gainer last Saturday, rushing 501 yards against Idaho as Syracuse was restricted to 195 yards on the ground by Holy Cross.

In the total offense department, New Mexico State leads with an average of 422.5 yards per game.

West Branch Boosters See Movies of Game

Coach Ralph Zurbrugg showed movies of the West Branch - McDonald football game when the Booster Club met in West Branch School building Monday evening.

Announcement was made that a smorgasbord will be served at Knox School building Saturday evening.

Plans for basketball events to be held this winter were discussed. Forty were in attendance. The next regular meeting will be held Monday evening, Nov. 14.

Bowling Green, Ohio U. Maintain Unbeaten Marks

Ohio U. and Bowling Green, leaders in last week's respective wire service college division polls, remain the Mid-American Conference's only undefeated teams.

The Bobcats, who top both the MAC offense and defense statistics demonstrated again to NCAA officials that the MAC teams can play with the so-called majors by blasting Boston U., 36-6. It was the second OU win this season over a major foe.

Bowling Green stretched its win streak to 14 by edging an improving Western Michigan eleven that has lost two league games by a total of two points.

The Bobcats, averaging six touchdowns a game, have a fine 379.5 yard offensive average with BG at 335.7, well ahead of third place Miami. OU's defensive average is 220.5 yard per game while BG has a 244 yard figure. Miami is again third on defense at 250 yards per game.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I've dated a boy for two years but never steadily. During that time he frequently has followed me when I've dated others. I've turned around in theaters and seen him sitting behind me.

Often when I've returned from an evening out he's parked in front of our house or sitting on our porch.

Sometimes he's on the front steps or stretched out on the lawn. I find his behavior annoying but I never considered it any more than that until a friend told me he must be nuts and maybe dangerous. What can I do about it? — ENID.

Dear Enid: The boy may be only a pest but there's no reason for you to be hounded by him.

Ask your father to keep an eye open for this kook and when he catches him on your property to make it plenty clear he's not to follow you or hang around the house ever again. The boy should be told also if he shows up once more, the police will be notified.

self-centered leech that you'd like to be "insulted" with about $125 a month. This should have been decided when the young man came back from the service and went to work. If he thinks he can do it cheaper elsewhere, invite him to try it.

Dear Ann Landers: You never had a problem like this before; in fact, you may have to ask someone to help you find an answer—unless you happen to play the bassoon yourself.

I'm 13 years old now—a boy—and have wanted to play the bassoon since I can remember. I begged my folks for years to buy me one and they finally did—six months ago.

The trouble is they won't let me practice. Whenever I start my mother says she has a splitting headache or my pa says I'm interfering with his TV program or my sister says she can't hear her hi-fi.

When no one is at home and I take out the bassoon, the neighbors phone up (we live in a four-family flat) and tell me the baby is trying to sleep, or Grandpa isn't well.

How can I ever get accomplished if no one will let me practice? Please help me. — LEWIS.

Dear Lewis: Every school has a few music rooms where kids can practice to their hearts' content. Take the bassoon to school, get permission from the music instructor and you can blow your brains out several hours a day if you want to.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Goldbricker

Dear Ann: Our son is 23. He served his time in the Army and now has a job that pays him $110 a week. He dresses like Prince Rainier, wouldn't wear a shirt without cuff links and has very high-class taste in food.

He spends every cent on himself and is in debt to the clothing stores. He owes on a new car and takes girls to the most expensive places in town.

My husband makes less than our son does and yet he often has to lend him money. Don't you think a boy 23 should pay something for room, board, laundry and maid service?

I've hinted a few times but he says he wouldn't insult us by offering us money. — JUSUT FOL

Job's Daughters met Monday evening at the Masonic Temple with parents, members of the OES and Masonic orders as their guests for a covered dinner served buffet style. Special guests were Miss Grace Todd, guardian; Ray Beers, associate guardian; Mrs. Ruth James, worthy matron; John Halverstadt, past associate guardian; and past matrons and past patrons of OES and past worshipful masters of New Lisbon Lodge.

The meeting opened at 7:30 with Melinda Calhoun, honor queen, presiding.

Mrs. Elaine Griffith, president, conducted a short business meeting.

For the program, Mrs. Albert Webber told of a trip to Canada taken this summer by her and Mr. Webber. A funny hat show featuring decorations ranging from birds nests to Christmas trees was enjoyed, with Miss Nellie Gillis doing the narrating in poetry and Mrs. Webber and Mrs. Evelyn Webber serving as models. Mrs. Kenty served lunch.

For their next meeting, Nov. 14, the group will observe the 10th anniversary of their founding with a dinner at the Platt Tea Room in Wellsville.

The Young Women's Bible Class of First Presbyterian Church met Monday night with Mrs. Floyd Baker at her home on E. Chestnut St.

Eighteen members of the WSCS of Lisbon Methodist Church attended a 20th anniversary party at the First Methodist Church in East Liverpool Monday night.

Resumes were given of the founding of the missionary society within the Methodist churches and also of the founding of the WSCS in the local church.

Mrs. Jimmie Deemer attended a meeting of the Trinitone Club on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Clarence Wolfe near Fredericktown. The event was an old-fashioned ice-cream making party.

Mrs. Wolfe will entertain the group Oct. 25.

Raymond Clunk of N. Beaver St. has received a card from his cousin, Roger Eells of Ironton, pastor of the Episcopal Church there, stating that he is much improved and that his doctor as advised him that he may return to his pastorate Dec. 1. The Rev. Mr. Eells suffered a heart attack several months ago. Both he and Mrs. Eells are former Lisbon residents.

"Thursday at Seven" of Trinity United Presbyterian Church will have as its topic "To Head a Parade." Familiar and new hymns will feature the song service.

Everyone is welcome to this hour long service.

NO SPACEWOMAN — Mrs. Sandy Waldrop goes about her kitchen chores in Dallas, Tex., wearing a space suit specially designed for her but not for space. Mrs. Waldrop had been suffering blackouts caused by a circulatory condition. The suit, designed at Carswell Air Force Base, forces blood to flow normally in her veins, enabling her to move comfortably and safely.
